Libraries have led the charge to open up access to the scholarly literature.

It’s time to turn that leadership into leverage to reduce costs, to save staff time, to improve library services, and to open up even more content.
InstantILL: Deliver Articles Simply, With or Without Subscriptions
"We provide leadership support as an investment in community-owned infrastructure that improves our services, helps reduce dependency on subscriptions, and advances equitable access to information."

Tina Baich
Senior Associate Dean for Scholarly Communication & Content Strategies
Without a subscription, delivering content seamlessly becomes harder. InstantILL changes that.
- One, simple user interface that gives users the best option to get access from your holdings, Open Access, purchase on demand, and ILL.
- Process ILL requests more quickly & automatically.
- Helps make papers Open Access

Shareyourpaper.org: Make sharing in your repository the simplest way to increase your author’s impact.
"We're excited to finally build everything we've learned from mediated deposit into a simple tool, not a dozen workarounds, that enables every library to make self-archiving not just the right thing, but the easy thing, for every author"

Leila Sterman
Scholarly Communication Librarian & Assistant Professor
Sharing should be simple.
Your lives should be simple.
Click a link, drag and drop, done.
Shareyourpaper.org automates the deposit workflow—metadata entry, permissions and version checking—and beautifully explains the only step for uploaders.

Uploading the paper itself.
Available to any library, with any repository, as an embeddable tool. Needs no complex integrations or migrations for your repository.

Use it as an API, and at shareyourpaper.org
Dear Your Name,

Congratulations, from Montana State University Library, on your publication of "Your New Article Title" in Amazing Journal Title. We value the work that you are doing!

We would like to make a copy of your paper openly available in ScholarWorks, our institutional repository. It should only take a minute, and you can do it at scholarworks.montana.edu/?submit=10.1234.345678

Please do not hesitate to contact us for clarification.

Thank you for working with us on this important project.

Best,
Leila

You can freely share your paper now!

To enable colleagues and the public to freely download and cite your paper the library has checked and "{{your journal}}" encourages you to freely share a version of "{{your article}}".[?].

✓ Find the version that was accepted. It's not a PDF from the journal site

This is the only version you’re able to share legally. The accepted version, or ‘post-print’, is what you sent to publisher after peer-review and acceptance but before formatting. Often, it’s a docx or latex export, not publisher proofs.

✓ Check there isn’t publisher logos or formatting

It’s normal to share accepted versions as the research is the same, and we’ll link to the final published pdf for those who can pay for it. It’s fine to make small edits to formatting, remove comments, arrange figures etc.

We’ll check the version, then preserve, and promote your work.

Select, or drag and drop a file

By uploading you’re agreeing to the terms and conditions and to license your work CC-BY on Zenodo and ScholarWorks.[?]

Congrats! Your paper will be available to everyone, forever.

You'll soon find it in ScholarWorks, on Google Scholar, Web of Science, and popular tools like Unpaywall. You can put the link on your website, CV, any profiles, and ResearchGate.

Your paper is now freely available at this link:

https://doi.org/10.23456/2345678

Check back soon to see your paper in ScholarWorks, until then we've put it in Zenodo.

Do Another
Hmm, something looks wrong

We just checked the paper, and it looks like it is probably a publisher's PDF or final proof which the journal prohibits legally sharing in ScholarWorks. You're nearly done, we just need an earlier version to help you get the 30% citation advantage, however we'll share this version on your behalf whenever it's requested.

Try again

This is the right version
Make your research visible and see 30% more citations

Share your paper with help from the library in ScholarWorks. Legally, for free, in minutes. Join millions of researchers sharing their papers freely with colleagues and the public.

Start by entering the DOI of your paper

We'll gather information about your paper and find the easiest way to share it.
